

Chris TINDAL

candidate for city councillor, ward 27

PRESS RELEASE

AUGUST 26, 2010

FORMER WARD 27 OPPONENT ANNOUNCES SUPPORT FOR CHRIS TINDAL

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TORONTO- On August 25, Evan Dean stepped down as a candidate for city councillor in Ward 27, and announced his support for Chris Tindal. Evan has been a great contributor to the community, both as a candidate, and through his work with Trinity Square Café, Our Place Community of Hope, and as volunteer coordinator for Pride Toronto. Chris is honored to have his support.

"I believe that Chris is the best suited for the role and that he has both the political and policy background necessary to serve the residents of this Ward" says Evan on his website. "I believe that Chris understands the role that communities play in creating a great and diverse city. Chris also understands that improving public transit, and creating more infrastructure for pedestrians and cyclists will keep this city green and sustainable in the future. This is why I will support him for councillor for Ward 27."

Chris Tindal is endorsed from people throughout Ward 27 and across the political spectrum, including former Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament David MacDonald, retired Senator Lois Miriam Wilson and former Ontario NDP Youth Chair Liam McHugh-Russell.

These members of our community are supporting Chris because they know he has the right priorities for our ward. Chris is committed to representing all of Ward 27's unique communities, and will champion

- ✓ more responsible fiscal management at City Hall;
- ✓ improved transit, so that 'the better way' really is better; and
- ✓ smart, sustainable development that plans for our future but also preserves our past: our heritage buildings and the feel of our communities.

Chris's platform was officially announced today on his website, christindal.ca.
